LOOP × Burlington English Italia

Growth partnership proposal for the Italian market

OCTOBER 2026

WHY WE'RE HERE

Why we're here

Burlington English Italia competes in a market with its own language, habits, seasonality and buying behaviour. Campaigns that win in Italy are built in Italy.

Loop is an Italian performance marketing agency that has run paid media for Italian brands since 2017. We propose to take on execution for the Italian market, working in sync with the Group so that global standards stay aligned while local performance goes up.

WHO WE ARE

WHO WE ARE

What we bring

01 Full execution of paid media in Italy on Meta, Google, LinkedIn and TikTok.

02 Native Italian creative: concepts, copy and hooks written for Italian learners, not translated.

03 Italian creators connected to paid campaigns.

04 Tracking that connects ads to sales, not just to form fills.

05 Regional and audience-level planning built on your own market research.

LOOP

WHO WE ARE

Why an Italian team makes the difference

01

Language.

Italian ad copy lives on nuance, tone and everyday expressions. A translated ad reads like an ad. A native one reads like a conversation.

02

Calendar.

The September restart, January resolutions, the summer slowdown, the August shutdown. Italian seasonality shapes both demand and costs.

03

Geography.

Milan, Palermo and a town of 2,000 people are three different markets. Your own sales data proves it.

04

Search behaviour.

How Italians search for English courses, prices and certifications is specific, and so is the competitive landscape.

05

Speed.

Same time zone, same language as your call center and marketing team. Feedback loops of hours, not weeks.

WHO WE ARE

Proof: scale

In the last 12 months we managed around €28M on Meta Ads, €9M on Google Ads and €1M on TikTok Ads.

€28M

Meta Ads

€9M

Google Ads

€1M

TikTok Ads

Meta Business Partner (Badged)

Google Premier Partner

TikTok Marketing Partner (Enterprise)

Klaviyo Platinum Partner

A €2M yearly budget is a size we manage every day.

WHO WE ARE

Proof: lead generation and education

Xplainers

Xplainers: Italian EdTech for university entrance exams, majority stake acquired by Edra in 2023.

LexDo.it

LexDo.it: Italian online platform for company formation, legal and accounting services.

Idrosanity

Idrosanity: high-consideration home product sold through a lead and call funnel.

ad → lead → person → sale

Same model as yours: the ad generates the lead, a person closes the sale. Our work is making the two halves talk to each other.

WHAT YOUR DATA TELLS US

What your data tells us

We studied your "Design Thinking - Italy" research in depth.

It's a rich picture of the Italian learner. Our job is to turn it into media decisions: who we target, where, with which message and on which channel.

1 2 3 4 5 6

The next slides show six insights and what we would do with each one.

Insight 1: two audiences, two different reasons to learn

Under 25, career wins

35% learn mainly for work

35% of 18 to 24 year olds see a certificate as a way to work abroad

Over 45, it's personal

29% self-fulfillment leads

26% travel

71% of 46 to 60 year olds prefer studying online

42%

And 42% of your students are 45 or older.

What we'd do: separate campaigns, creatives and landing messages by age band. Career and certification for the young, personal growth and travel for the 45+, with the 45+ segment treated as a core audience, not a niche.

LOOP

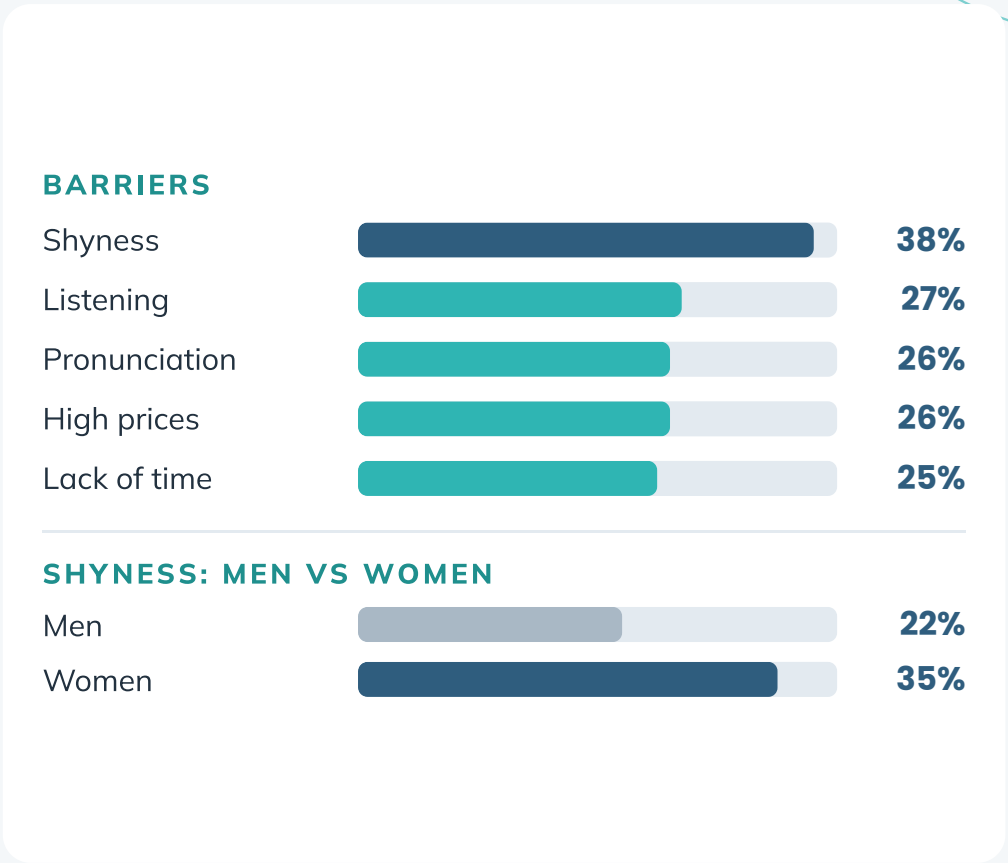

INSIGHT 2

Insight 2: the biggest barrier is fear, not grammar

Shyness when speaking is the number one barrier: 38% among 18 to 24 year olds, and 35% of women versus 22% of men.

Pronunciation (26%) and listening (27% among 46 to 60) follow. For anyone over 25, lack of time weighs as much as price.

What we'd do: make "speaking without fear" a central creative territory. Real students talking, small wins, safe environment, flexible schedules. For women, who are 54% of your students and, according to European trends, more likely to invest in lifelong learning (60% vs 39%), this is the message with the most room to grow.

INSIGHT 3

Insight 3: certificates are a hidden demand engine

INTEREST IN A CERTIFICATE

main driver interested when asked

78% open to a certificate

88% of those interested would take a dedicated preparation course.

Only 22% say a certificate is their main driver, but another 56% are interested when asked directly.

Cambridge leads with 61% awareness and 82% loyalty. Trinity follows at 37%.

28% wrongly believe Babbel prepares for official exams, 24% think the same of Duolingo.

What we'd do: build a dedicated certification funnel: Google Search on Cambridge, IELTS and TOEFL preparation queries, Meta and LinkedIn campaigns on skill validation and career, and creative that clearly separates "learning a level" from "passing an exam", the gap the apps can't fill.

LOOP

INSIGHT 4

Insight 4: price is a barrier for some, not for all

26% see high prices as a barrier, but it varies a lot:

Women are more price-sensitive than men (29% vs 22%).

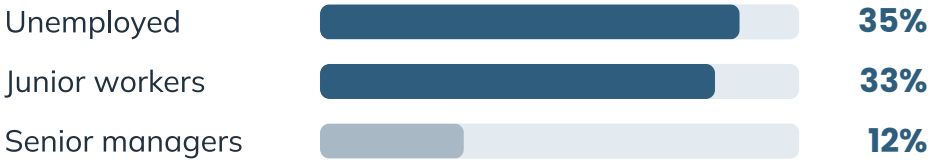

€200–700

The fair price for a full course sits between €200 and €700.

What we'd do: match message to segment. Value and outcome for price-sensitive audiences (cost per lesson, results, flexibility), quality and career return for senior professionals on LinkedIn. And we'd check cost per sale by segment, because the cheapest leads are often the hardest to close.

HIGH PRICES AS A BARRIER

Unemployed 35%, junior workers 33%, senior managers 12%.

Big cities 31%, very small towns 4%.

INSIGHT 5

Insight 5: your sales map is uneven, and that's an opportunity

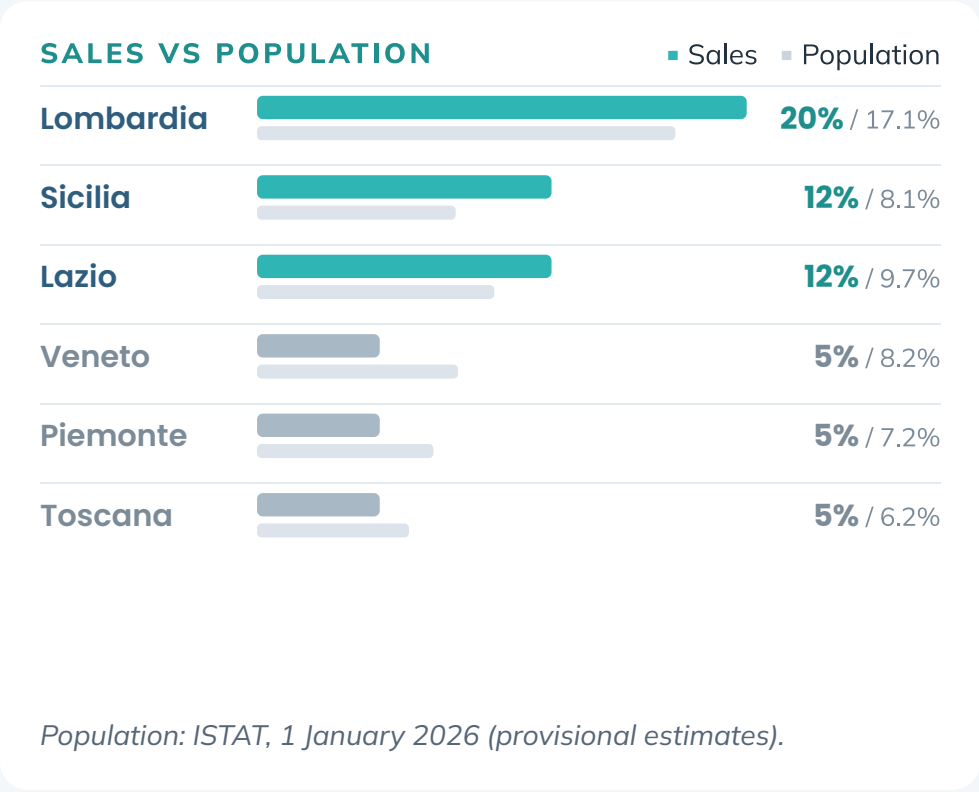

Lombardia 20%, Sicilia 12%, Lazio 12%, Campania 10%. The South (Sicilia, Campania, Puglia, Calabria) brings 32% of sales with 27% of the population.

Over-performing: Sicilia (12% of sales, 8.1% of Italians), Lazio (12% vs 9.7%), Lombardia (20% vs 17.1%).

Under-performing: Veneto (5% vs 8.2%), Piemonte (5% vs 7.2%), Toscana (5% vs 6.2%).

Channels differ too: LinkedIn over-indexes in Lombardia (24%), while organic and influencers lead in Sicilia (20%) and Lazio (16%).

What we'd do: plan budgets and bids by region, test regional creative and creators, protect what works in the South and open Veneto, Piemonte and Toscana with dedicated tests.

Population: ISTAT, 1 January 2026 (provisional estimates).

INSIGHT 6

Insight 6: trust is built on the teacher

44%

44% of your students prefer a teacher who also speaks Italian, to bridge grammar and cultural gaps.

65%

65% already study online, yet "online teachers" are often seen as less qualified.

THE IDEAL

The ideal: technological flexibility plus professional human guidance.

What we'd do: put teachers and real lessons at the center of the creative. Show who teaches, how they explain, and why it works. Proof of quality is the strongest answer to the doubts about online learning.

AUDIENCES

From insights to audiences

01

Young career builders (18 to 34).

Career, work abroad, certificates.

Meta · TikTok · Google

02

Professionals and managers.

Employer requirements, business English, low price sensitivity.

LinkedIn · Google

03

Certificate seekers.

Cambridge, IELTS, TOEFL preparation.

Google Search · Meta retargeting

04

Personal growth and travel (45+).

Self-fulfillment, travel, flexibility.

Meta

05

Women, across all ages.

Speaking with confidence, flexibility, value.

Meta · creators

Each audience gets its own message, creative and success metric, and is measured on cost per sale.

LOOP

OUR METHOD

OUR METHOD

Our method: from psychology to scale

Every campaign we run follows the same five-step loop. Nothing scales until the data says it works.

01 Psychographic analysis and CEPs. We map what drives the audience and the real moments when they enter the category.

02 Hypotheses. We turn the strongest insights into clear, testable bets.

03 Test. We put each bet in front of the market with a controlled budget.

04 Validation and iteration. We judge on sales, not clicks, and refine what's promising.

05 Scaling. We grow the winners step by step, then restart the loop with the next opportunity.

On the next slides, a real example built for Burlington English Italia.

STEP 1

Step 1: psychographic analysis and Category Entry Points

With Psicomap, our psychographic analysis tool, we mapped the Burlington English audience across 30 psychographic dimensions (values, motivations, fears, habits, decision drivers) and 15 Category Entry Points: the concrete moments when someone starts looking for an English course.

Each CEP is scored on frequency, emotional intensity, commercial potential, creative potential and distinctiveness.

THE GAP WE FOUND

quality and flexibility are crowded messages, everyone in the category uses them. The fear of being judged for mistakes is strong and largely ignored by competitors.

TOP CEPS FOR BURLINGTON ENGLISH

Choosing a quality course 95/100

"I want to invest my time and money in something that works."

Speaking with confidence 93

"I want to communicate without fear, at work and in life."

Fear of wasting money 92

"I need proof that I'll actually make progress."

Career growth 90

"I need English to move forward at work."

No time 90

"I have to fit English around my job and family."

LOOP

STEP 2

Step 2: from insight to hypothesis

Two sources, one signal.

PSICOMAP

the fear of being judged is an under-served entry point.

YOUR RESEARCH

shyness when speaking is the number one barrier, for 38% of 18 to 24 year olds and 35% of women (vs 22% of men).

And there's a funnel detail that makes it even more relevant: after the lead, your next step is a phone call and an online meeting. For someone afraid of speaking, that's exactly the moment they drop off.

WHAT WE MEASURE booking rate, show rate and cost per sale. Not just cost per lead.

OUR HYPOTHESIS

"If we speak directly to the fear of being judged, women aged 25 to 54 will book and show up to the consultation more often than with generic quality messages, because we remove the barrier that stops them from picking up the phone."

LOOP

STEP 3

Step 3: the test

AUDIENCE
women 25 to 54, Italy, broad targeting on Meta.

BUDGET
around €15k from the testing reserve, over 3 weeks.

STRUCTURE
one control and three challengers, same audience, same budget split.

CONTROL. QUALITY

"Metodo collaudato da 40 anni, docenti madrelingua."

(A method tested for 40 years, native teachers.)

A. NO FEAR OF MISTAKES

"Hai paura di sbagliare quando parli inglese? Qui gli errori sono il punto di partenza."

(Afraid of making mistakes? Here mistakes are where you start.)

Format: UGC, a real student telling her first lesson.

B. A TEACHER WHO SPEAKS YOUR LANGUAGE

"Il tuo insegnante parla anche italiano. Quando non capisci, te lo spiega."

(Your teacher speaks Italian too. When you don't understand, they explain.)

Format: teacher on camera.

C. SMALL STEPS

"Dalla prima parola alla prima conversazione, al tuo ritmo."

(From your first word to your first conversation, at your pace.)

Format: short lesson snippets.

STEP 4

Step 4: validation and iteration

We read the test on the full funnel, connected to your CRM and BI.

Decision rules, set before launch:

Scale — Scale if a challenger delivers a cost per show-up at least 15% below the control, with a stable close rate.

Iterate — Iterate if leads are cheaper but show rate doesn't move: the problem is after the click, so we work on the landing page and the booking step (for example a reassuring message before the call).

Stop — Stop if cost per sale is worse than the control after a significant number of leads.

Iteration in practice: the winning angle becomes a family. New hooks, new formats, new creators, new age bands and regions, all tested against the new control.

One more output: the words that work in the ads go straight to your call center, so the first call speaks the same language as the ad.

Thresholds and budgets on these slides are illustrative. The real ones are set with you after the audit.

STEP 5

Step 5: scaling, and back to step 1

01

Scale step by step. Budget on the winning angle grows week by week, as long as cost per sale holds.

02

Extend across channels. Google Search on conversation and speaking-confidence queries, TikTok and Instagram creators telling their own "first time speaking" stories, LinkedIn on the fear of speaking English in meetings.

03

Keep it fresh. A steady flow of new variations, so the winning message doesn't wear out.

Then the loop starts again with the next entry point from the map: certification, career growth, no time.

Every cycle makes the next one faster, because each test adds to what we know about the Italian learner.

THE PLAN

THE PLAN

How we see your potential

Your Italian funnel already has the hard parts in place: budget, call center, BI, creators, and a research base most competitors don't have.

The upside is in using it: audiences built on real motivations, creative that answers real barriers, regional budgets based on where sales actually come from, and campaigns optimised toward booked and attended meetings instead of form fills.

THE PLAN

Five areas of opportunity

01 Signal quality. Send booked meetings, show-ups and sales back to Meta, Google and LinkedIn, and optimise toward them.

02 Cost per sale by audience and region. Not cost per lead.

03 Creative built on your research. Fear of speaking, certificates, Italian-speaking teachers, flexibility.

04 A dedicated certification funnel. Capturing the 78% open to a certificate.

05 Regional growth. Defend the South, open the North.

LOOP

THE PLAN

We start with a full audit, at no cost

~~€4,000~~ €0

A full audit of your Italian accounts would normally cost €4,000. If we work together, we absorb it.

We complete it in the first 3 weeks, covering Meta, TikTok, Google, LinkedIn, tracking and creative, and we cross it with your research:

01 Which audiences, regions and campaigns produce sales, not just leads?

02 How much budget goes to leads that never book or never show?

03 Which motivations, barriers and entry points are already covered by your creative, and which are missing?

04 Is tracking giving the platforms the right signals?

05 Where is the creator programme adding incremental demand?

You receive a detailed report in English and a walkthrough call with your team and the Group.

LOOP

THE PLAN

The €2M scenario

YEARLY PAID MEDIA, ITALY

In our last call we discussed a yearly paid media budget of €2M for Italy.

That's above today's run rate (around €1.2M to €1.5M), so the plan answers a precise question: where does the extra budget generate the most sales?

OUR ANSWER, BASED ON YOUR DATA:

Don't just push harder in the peak. It's already the most competitive and expensive period.

Invest the growth where demand is under-served: slower months, the certification funnel, under-penetrated regions (Veneto, Piemonte, Toscana) and the 45+ audience.

Release it in steps. Each new tranche of budget is unlocked when cost per sale holds.

THE PLAN

How we would run €2M in Italy: the principles

01 Budget follows evidence on cost per sale, by audience and region.

02 Growth is unlocked step by step, not spent all at once.

03 Platforms optimise toward the deepest funnel event with enough volume.

04 A fixed share of budget is reserved for structured tests.

05 Major decisions are checked against incrementality, not just platform attribution.

LOOP

THE PLAN

How we would run €2M in Italy: indicative allocation

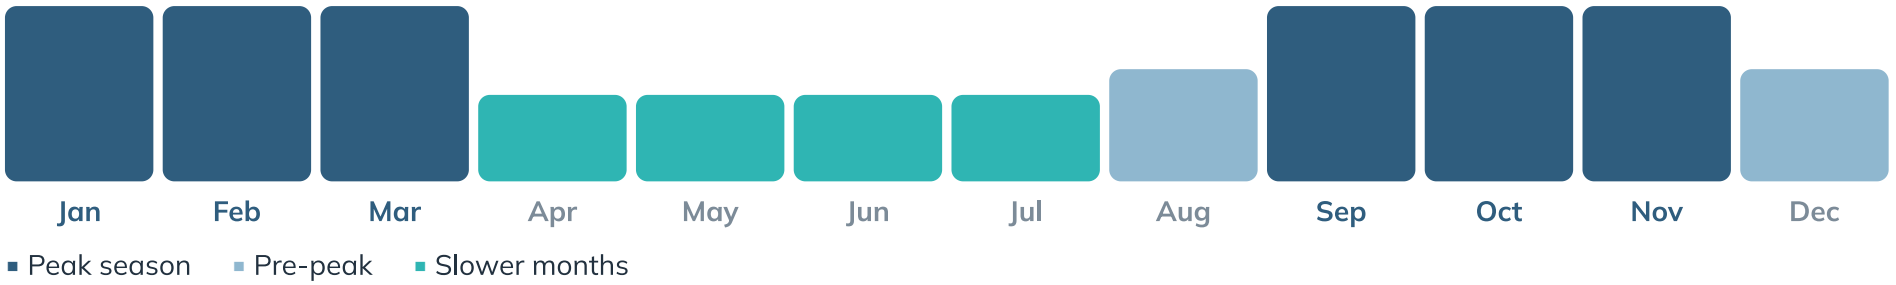

Meta: 50 to 55%.	The core engine for the 45+, women and personal growth audiences, optimised toward qualified events.
Google: 15 to 20%.	Capture active demand, with certification preparation as a priority cluster.
LinkedIn: 12 to 18%.	Professionals and managers, where employer requirements drive demand and price matters less.
TikTok: 5 to 8%.	Young career builders, creator-led formats, Spark Ads from the influencer programme.
Testing reserve: 5%.	New regions, formats and audiences.

These are starting hypotheses. The audit turns them into numbers.

THE PLAN

How we would run €2M in Italy: across the year

Peak season: around 60% of yearly spend, down from about two thirds today. The peak still gets more budget in absolute terms, but most of the growth goes elsewhere.

Pre-peak: build audiences and test new angles, so the peak starts with winners already in hand.

Slower months: from a maintenance phase to a growth phase, with the certification funnel, regional expansion and the bigger creative tests.

LOOP

THE PLAN

Creative made in Italy

Creative is the strongest targeting lever on Meta and TikTok today, and it only works if it speaks the audience's language.
